Discovering Yuchi

Sun Moon Lake is located in Yuchi Township. This is an inland area nestled between the Central Mountain Range and western plains. Since the Japanese occupation era (1895-1945), it has been "the home of black tea". Within this township are plains, hills, terraces, rivers, and lake. As such, it is ecologically and culturally diverse. Enjoy Yuchi's landscapes and visit Sun Moon Lake's attractions. In addition to the mountains and waters, the Seshui Community, Formosan Aboriginal Culture Village, Toushe Basin, Kongming Temple, and Taiwan Adventist College are worth exploring. "Three Treasures Plus Coffee" refers to black tea, mushrooms, orchids, and coffee beans. These are Yuchi's agricultural specialty products. In addition to tourism, they are among the most important economic sources for local residents.

Discovering Nature's Pearls

Enjoy a slow pace and beautiful natural settings in the Sun Moon Lake National Scenic Area. Shining like Nature's pearls are the areas surrounding the lake and five towns and townships. They offer a diversity and abundance of cultures, foods, and attractions, making them highlights of central Taiwan and wonderful getaways. Bring your luggage and a spirit of adventure and expectation. Visit Puli – the mountain town, Yuchi – the home of black tea, Jiji – a classic small town, Checheng - the historical lumber town, and the indigenous communities of Xinyi Township. Every time you visit one of these great destinations, there is something new to

Sun Moon Lake's beauty cannot be appreciated in a brief stopover. From morning to night, dawn to dusk, and in each of the four seasons, there is something unique to see and to do. Stay at least one night at different times of the year. Whether if walking or riding around the lake, dining, or exploring off-the-beaten path destinations, develop your own impressions of Sun Moon
